

ECB clubmark

In line with our wish to be a club that encourages and enables the development of young cricketers, we have worked to put in place the support, and documentation, that matches this accreditation from the national body.

Within this section you can therefore find a number of relevant documents – which are also available on the ‘clubmark’ noticeboard in the clubhouse, or from any committee member on request.

There are number of codes of conduct – which we aim to both adhere to and enforce as appropriate. All young members receive a copy of the young people’s code and should expect the support outlined in the coaches code. In addition we have an expectation of all members and guests, including players, as outlined here and here.

Particularly relevant for parents and guardians of junior members, we have also outlined our response to accidents and emergencies, and work to adhere to the principles of the ECB safe hands policy .
